WORLD SUBUD COUNCIL

Dear sisters and brothers on behalf of the members of Subud Mexico, I want to send all of you a warm greeting asking God almighty to give us the wisdom and strength needed to successfully carry out the tasks at this reunion.

The main objective of this letter is to present the proposal made by Subud Mexico in which we solicit that Puebla becomes the place where the 2014 World Congress takes place. This decision was made at a plenary session held at the National Congress back in April 2009.

This time has been very special for Subud Mexico due to the strong belief that a new moment is flourishing, time of harmony and growth where Almighty God will be the real guide in this new path. The atmosphere at the National Congress was harmonious, full of integration and work proposals.

We are aware that the path is long and that it requires structure and organization; we are willing to face the challenge because a) we know that we have enough human capital to achieve it, b) there is appropriate infrastructure to hold an event of such dimensions, and because c) this proposal was born and supported by all the membership at Subud Mexico National Congress with the inner guidance of Almighty God, and if we continue working on that direction, we know that it will be our main strengths.

You will find the following information in this presentation: A brief description of a) the team, b) Puebla City, b) Convention Center, c) Hotel and parking, d) visa requirements, e) some of the main fees and expenses, and e) tourist attractions.

Thanks to all of you !

See you in New Zealand

The Place

The city of Puebla, officially Heroic Puebla de Zaragoza (nicknamed Angelópolis) is the capital and largest city of the Mexican state of Puebla. The city has a population of 1,399,519 (the municipality, 1,485,941). The metropolitan area of the city, however, extends over 10 municipalities of the state of Puebla, such as the city of Cholula and 13 of the state of Tlaxcala, and with a population of 2,109,049 it is fourth most populous metropolitan area in Mexico. Puebla is an important industrial, cultural and educational center of Mexico for the central and south-east regions. It is also one of the oldest colonial cities in the continent.

Puebla is located in the Valley of Puebla, surrounded by volcanoes and snow-capped mountains, slightly over 110 kilometres southeast of Mexico City.

The city of Puebla was founded on April 16, 1531 as "La Puebla de Los Ángeles", the word "puebla" meaning settlement. It was the first city in central Mexico founded by the Spanish conquerors that was not built upon the ruins of a conquered Amerindian settlement. Its strategic location, half-way between the port of Veracruz and Mexico City, made it the second most important city during the colonial period.

The folkloric Mexican women's dress known as China Poblana was created in Puebla. Also, the "Talavera Poblana" is a fine earthenware of colonial origin still made in the city. It's a motif unique to Puebla; dinnerware, plant pots, churches and even streets may be lined with tiles of Talavera.

Also worth visiting is the pyramid of Cholula, a city within the metropolitan area of Puebla. Cholula was one of the most important cities under the Aztec empire, and its pyramid is the largest in the New World, both by in terms of base-size and total volume. The town, with a population of only 200,000 inhabitants, is said to boast a chapel for every day of the year, albeit some of the churches are quite small and even makeshift.

The historic center of the city still contains much Spanish Colonial architecture and is a UNESCO World Heritage Site. Many of the old buildings were severely damaged in the 1999 earthquake. In recent years some of the historical buildings have been restored while others are in a state of disrepair.

Of all the colonial buildings, the most impressive are the Puebla Cathedral, built in a mixed neoclassical style; the gold-covered Capilla del Rosario (Rosary Chapel), in the nearby Iglesia de Santo Domingo, is a dramatic example of Mexican baroque, being a chapel inlaid with gold. Other important landmarks are El Barrio del Artista ("The Artist's Neighborhood") where local arts are produced and the Centro y Zócalo (downtown) where the Cathedral of Puebla and the Palacio Municipal are located.

Puebla's food culture, known as Cocina Poblana, is popular all over Mexico. Puebla is considered the home of Mole poblano, a rich, spicy sauce containing chocolate, cinnamon and nuts, as well as different types of hot peppers. Served with chicken, mole has become the most renowned dish of Puebla's cuisine. Camote, sweet potatoes cooked in a stove and topped with creme are a traditional sweet. Rompope is a liquor based on egg yolk and vanilla, created many years ago by Puebla's nuns. Chiles en nogada is a dish of stuffed chilies with meat, fruit, and topped with walnut sauce and pomegranate seeds; it is prepared mainly in August (during walnut harvest season). The Chalupa, a small tortilla topped with salsa, chopped onion and meat; and widely known in Mexico as a fast food is also from the city. Other traditional sweets include the sweets from Santa Clara (dulces de Santa Clara), crystallized fruits, and milk candies.

THE CONVENTION CENTER

Puebla is a colonial city with many contrasts. It is home to more than two-thousand five hundred catalogued buildings that represent its historic and artistic value as a cultural world heritage site as well as its important commercial touristic development.

This is why that since the sixth of January 1999 Puebla's Convention Center, William O. Jenkins majestic cultural development, in which the past is combined with a vision of the future, has allowed its visitors to enjoy a well preserved architectural style in all of its details. From the combination of neoclassical, industrial and modern architectural styles to the quality of its ancient murals and the functionality of its installations, its nature and history have made it a unique and memorable place, being the only convention center in America located within the historic center of a cultural world heritage city.

Puebla's convention center is today considered one of the most significant sites in the state since it has been host to the most important conferences, conventions, symposiums, forums, seminars, meetings, presentations, concerts, expositions, performances, professional fairs and the most important events in the state of Puebla.

When cost and travel time are key factors to the success of an event and valuable for a businessman, we are equipped with excellent access roads and set up as a perfectly connected destination. Give us the privilege to be able to serve you and make your conference or convention an absolute success.

Constructed over what were once textile factories named "la mascota", "la esperanza" and "la guía. The colors that represent them are yellow, orange and green. This is because when the excavations were carried out for the cementation, the remains of an ancient talavera factory from before the 20th century were found, and these were the predominant colors of the recovered pieces. Located precisely in the historic center within the San Francisco walkway, the monumental legacy of the city of Puebla guarantees a celebration of original, diverse, and exclusive events, offering its visitors the richest gastronomy, diversion, art, as well as vast touristic and cultural services and products.
