CHAIRMAN'S MESSAGE

This letter provides an opportunity for me to reflect on my last four years as chairman of Susila Dharma International Association (SDIA), and comment on its achievements in 2009. It has been a great privilege and a learning experience for me to serve SDIA and support our network of 24 national Susila Dharma organisations and 48 projects and programmes.

As a member-based organisation with activities in 28 countries our successes are achieved through the inspiration, dedication and stamina of our project leaders and their teams. Because SD projects arise from individual initiatives, they cover a very wide range of services to humanity. All these projects begin with the efforts of one or more people, but over many years they may become quite large organisations.

Readers may be aware of the Millennium Development Goals (MDGs), established by the United Nations in 2000 as a set of measurable targets to address some of the most pressing needs of humanity to be achieved by 2015. A ten-year review is under way which shows that, although progress has been made, the international community is still a long way from reaching these goals. Our member projects, and the SD organizations that support them, contribute in their unique ways to achieving these goals in areas such as poverty alleviation, primary and maternal health care, education, human rights and sustainable livelihoods and agriculture. As they mature, many SD projects and SD nationals are able to attract financial support from national and multinational national agencies and trusts that recognize their capacity to demonstrate creative approaches to global problems.

As the social and humanitarian organisation affiliated to the World Subud Association, SDIA receives a large part of its funding through donations and bequests from Subud members and Subud organizations. Without that support we could not continue to grow and I wish to thank them and all our donors for their trust in our work, and recognize here the importance of their continued commitment.

Before ending I would like to pay tribute to the outstanding work of our Executive Director, Virginia Thomas and the Office team: Rosanna Hille, Cassidy Sterling, Solen Lees and Samuel Chapleau. They work as volunteers or with partial remuneration, which neither adequately reflects their professional competence nor the long hours they work.

SDIA's international Board members are located around the world and because of the huge distances and the cost of travel we hold regular board meetings by conference call. However it is essential that the Board has a face-to-face meeting and meetings with SDIA members annually in order to carry out their responsibilities. It has been a privilege to have participated as a board member and chairman of this dedicated team in support of the members of SDIA.

I believe that Susila Dharma International Association has a great future, and can play an increasing role in dealing with the multifaceted and interlinked crises facing our world.

At the Subud World Congress in January 2010, I handed back the chairmanship of Susila Dharma International Association (SDIA) to Kumari Beck, from whom I took over as chairman in 2005. Kumari was huge support in my first year as chairman and I hope I can return this favour.

Sharifin Gardiner,
East Sussex, England

FROM INCOMING CHAIRPERSON: KUMARI BECK

It is an honour to be selected to serve Susila Dharma International Association over the next four years. I hope to build on the strengths and successes achieved so far, and to achieve the objectives set by the members of SDIA at the recently concluded World Congress (January 2010). As Sharifin has mentioned, the challenges posed by the complex world conditions are many, and the inequities experienced by the majority of our world's people appear overwhelmingly difficult to address. However, I am optimistic that we are also capable of creative solutions based on love, compassion and our natural impulse to care for and contribute to the wellbeing of others. May these ideals infuse our efforts.

Kumari Beck,
Fort Langley, British Columbia, Canada.

TOWARDS OUR GOALS!

SDIA is an association of national organisations (voting members) and social projects (associate members) that give the Board and Office their goals and general direction. These goals (see right) took our activities through to the World Subud Congress in New Zealand in 2010 where members voted to further refine the goals for the period 2010-2014.

SDIA meets its goals through services and activities in four key areas:

- Support to Members' Initiatives
- Outreach, Networking and Learning
- Research and Publications
- Links to Other Organisations

The purpose of this report is to account to members, donors, friends and the general public for the activities of the SDIA Board and Office in line with the goals set for the organisation, and the means at its disposal.

Support to Members' Initiatives

Capacity Building Activities

In 2009, with the generous support of the Blond Trust and other donors, SDIA continued its capacity building activities to support individuals and member organisations. These include training and assessment, on-line mentoring and support, fundraising for projects and coordination of resources within the SD Network.

SD NATIONALS SUPPORT GROUP

At the July AGM and Members' Meeting at Loudwater Farm in the UK it was agreed by those present that capacity building for SDIA members should continue to be a main focus of SDIA. An SD Nationals Support Group was formed by SDIA Directors Haris Wolfgang, Raphael Bate and Romina Vianden-Prudent, with the goal of helping SD nationals develop their teams, articulate their visions and build stronger organisations. Along with the SDIA office, they have been providing communications and support to SD Nationals looking for support in their work.

SD DEMOCRATIC REPUBLIC OF CONGO

In October SDIA staff member Samuel Chapleau travelled to the DRC to continue the capacity building activities with SD DR Congo and SD projects started in 2008. In addition to visiting all the projects, Samuel focused on strengthening the functioning of SD DRC and organised a workshop for the SD projects in the health sector to introduce a model of community-based and managed health centres. Working in partnership with Médecins d'Afrique, this initiative will be piloted at Lemba Imbu in 2010. The meeting gave SD health projects leaders and others the opportunity to learn and share information about models of community-managed health centres made affordable through mutual societies for health. (Read Samuel's report in French or English.)

SD INDIA

SD India projects are very diverse and need support to build a range of different capacities. In consultation with SDIA Director Lawrence Fryer and SD India Chair, Swamynathan Arulsamy, it was agreed that SDIA and SD India would pilot an approach to capacity building that began with a formal needs assessment. A professional consultant was hired to carry out a pilot assessment of the Center for Culture and Development. Read CCD's Capacity Assessment on the website.

The Centre for Culture and Development, Madurai, India.

SD INDONESIA

SD Indonesia identified some capacity development needs of SD Indonesia projects in 2009. In consultation with SD Indonesia and Yayasan Tambuhak Sinta (YTS) a number of training possibilities were explored including English languages classes and the development of skills to strengthen the projects' activities. It was finally agreed that YTS would host a Training of Trainers workshop in early 2010 which would include the participation of Bina Cita Utama School, Yayasan Usaha Mulia, SD Indonesia and other SD Indonesia projects.

PREPARING FOR SDIA'S CAPACITY BUILDING PROGRAMME IN NEW ZEALAND

At the end of 2009 the SDIA office spent time organising SDIA's programme for the Subud World Congress in Christchurch. This programme included more than 22 different capacity building workshops and project presentations. SDIA would like to thank all the project leaders and trainers who contributed their time to making this programme such a success.

WEB-BASED AND ONLINE LEARNING

As part of its website, the SDIA Office maintains a "Tools and Resources" section that provides free resources to support project management, including proposal-writing, planning, monitoring, evaluation and fundraising. Many thanks to monitoring and evaluation specialist Daisy MacDonald (UK) for help with the tools and explanations provided in this section. All members and visitors are encouraged to use the SDIA website to share other tools and resources that have helped them in their own projects. Visit <http://library.susiladharm.org/tools/index.shtml>

TECHNICAL SUPPORT

Throughout the year the SDIA Board and staff work with individuals and project leaders to help them reach their goals to serve their communities. SDIA assisted a number of projects improve the quality of their fundraising strategies, funding proposals, and reports. Among others, SDIA provided special support to Bina Cita Utama School to enhance its management of volunteers and Virginia Thomas provided support and input into the strategic planning process at Fundacion Amanecer, Colombia.

Grants and Fundraising

SDIA PROJECT SUPPORT FUND

SDIA maintains a Project Support Fund to help projects and national organisations that want to improve their capacity in project management, fundraising, evaluation, auditing, volunteering or other areas of professional development. $4,340 from the Project Support Fund was used to bring project leaders to participate in SDIA's Capacity Building Programme at World Congress, to provide tools and materials in support of the Youth Volunteering camp in Colombia, and to fund the participation of Psychology professor Teka Zewdie from Ethiopia in the International Child Development Programme Southern Africa Network meeting in Mozambique.

Virginia Thomas, SDIA (center), with Askale and Teka Zewdie.

FUNDRAISING FOR PROJECTS

As a service to the SD Network, project funding applications were translated, distributed and posted on the website (http://project-activities.susiladharm.org/current_requests/index.shtml), and support to a number of SD projects was coordinated by the SDIA office. In 2009 SDIA and SD National organisations ensured that dozens of projects had their budgets fully or partially met. The Office also provided photos, information, presentations, DVDs and posters to SD Nationals to assist them in their fundraising efforts. SDIA administered US$ 133,709 in grants to projects, including:

- US$ 22,382 to Africa
- US$ 77,096 to Asia
- US$ 14,300 to Latin America

EMERGENCY RELIEF

SDIA raised $11,645 for SD Indonesia to provide relief from the natural disasters affecting the country. SD Indonesia responded to the severe earthquake off Sumatra in September, which had devastating effects on the population. SD Indonesia, along with major international and national NGOs, was able to act quickly based on the assessments provided by the United Nations Office for the Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs (OCHA), in the districts most in need.

ENTERPRISE SPONSORSHIP PROGRAM (ESP)

The ESP facilitates the involvement of businesses that want to support SDIA and SD programmes, projects and activities. Many thanks to our Enterprise Sponsors for linking their enterprise with the community development work of the SD network. By the end of 2009, SDIA had five ESP members:

- Makesfive Ltd., UK (Solihin Garrard)
- Used Books Search Worldwide, UK (Mughtar Nankivell)
- Web Networks, Canada (Oliver Zielke)
- Shepherd's Watch, Canada (Harris Morrison)
- Markets Intelligence, Canada (Luke Penseny)

Outreach, Networking and Learning

In 2009, SDIA organised a number of activities to promote two important goals: first, to increase learning, knowledge and information sharing between members and, second, to include and mentor youth and others who want to get involved in Susila Dharma social, development and humanitarian work.

Members' Meetings and AGM

From July 3–5, 2009 SDIA held its annual Members Meeting and AGM at peaceful Loudwater Farm in the UK. Leading up to the Subud World Congress in 2010, representatives of eight SD national organisations, two projects and observers came together to explore what has been achieved by the Susila Dharma Network and where it should be heading. Solihin Garrard of Makesfive™ facilitated a workshop called “Looking Back, Looking Forward” on SDIA’s three key goals 1) to support SDIA’s 63 members organizations; 2) to strengthen the International Network and 3) to strengthen links with others.

Looking back over past four years, members felt that we have grown in our awareness of Susila Dharma as an intercultural network; “What makes us different is the intercultural aspect of our SD work—we are learning to know each other and the opportunities and constraints we face. This is different from imposing a western model of development on our partners.” Yet it was felt we still have a long way to go. Recommendations for future action focused on building our capacities and drawing on expertise in the area of communications, project management, fundraising and intercultural awareness.

Project presentations were delivered by Lailah Armstrong on the International Child Development Programme (ICDP), Michael van der Matten on the progress of the Bina Cita Utama (BCU) School in Kalimantan, Lawrence Fryer on the state of SD projects in India, and Virginia Thomas, Heloise Jackson, Jorge Guerin and Arnaud Delune described the situation of SD projects in the DR Congo. Polly Skerratt, Chair of SD Britain, presented a professionally-made video about SD Britain. Michael van de Matten and Sabariah van Beek, both early UN pioneers who worked with Varindra Vittachi and Ed Kerner, spoke about the process of getting SDIA accredited at the UN. The Members’ Meeting was followed by a two-day SDIA Board meeting.

SDIA Activities at the Spain Meeting

SDIA Board members Sharifin Gardiner, Lusana Blond, Laura Lesley and Lawrence Leetz and staff members Solen Lees and Virginia Thomas attended the Subud Zone 3 meeting that took place near Santiago de Compostela, Spain, in May. SDIA organized several workshops and presentations over the course of the week. Sharifin Gardiner, with the help of Daisy MacDonald, facilitated a well-attended discussion on possible answers to the current crises facing the world, with a strong focus on environmental solutions. Solen Lees led a workshop on SDIA’s get Involved initiative, on how to volunteer in the SD Network. Solen also presented a workshop on a Rights-Based Approach to development within Susila Dharma and the course she attended in Geneva in March on Human Rights Law and Advocacy. This was followed by a discussion on how SDIA can use its United Nations accreditation to forward the network’s human rights work. Our Enterprise Sponsorship Program (ESP) was introduced by Director Laura Lesley, after which two new enterprises joined.

Solen Lees (staff) and Rasjidah Flores (Director) work together on the volunteer program.

Volunteering

Through its get Involved! Blog on the website, SDIA provides information to anyone interested in volunteering with SDIA member organisations in 28 countries. We encourage people to engage in social action locally and internationally, and offer resources on how to do that. SDIA also encourages former volunteers to share their stories—positive and negative—so that we can all learn how to improve volunteer experiences for both projects and volunteers. See <http://blog.susiladharm.org/volunteering-opportunities/>

YOUTH VOLUNTEERING CAMP

At the initiative of youth organiser Alexandra Woodward (USA), SDIA helped coordinate and support the first annual Youth Volunteering camp in Colombia. Volunteers rebuilt part of Fundación Amanecer's school for local and disadvantaged children, and then had a week of educational activities with the students. The camp drew 20 participants from as far as Australia and as close as Amanecer. The camp helped bring the residents of Amanecer together and motivated local youth to take an active role in its education and social development initiative. The camp was extremely fruitful both for the youth participants, the community, and the school.

Other Visits and Representation

The Office team and Board members actively represented SDIA at various regional meetings and congresses. Mardijah Simpson represented SDIA at the Subud Australia national congress. Chairman, Sharifin Gardiner attended the Zone 4 Gathering in Moscow, where he explained to members how they can participate with SDIA. In November 2009, Solen Lees, visited SD project Vida Plena in Paraguay and provided a detailed report on the project activities. Read Solen's report here.

Sheyla, from the Vida Plena Program in Paraguay, still loves to draw.

Publications

Publications about SD projects and activities of the network are part of SDIA's goals to increase shared learning and knowledge and inform the public about SDIA.

SDIA eNews

The SD Network eNews is one main method of sharing information about the activities of the Network on a regular basis. In 2009 seven eNews newsletters full of information about the SD network were distributed in English, French and Spanish.

SDIA Website

The new SDIA website was officially launched prior to the SDIA 2008 AGM in Colombia and has continued to develop in 2009. It provides a more effective platform for supporting the work of SDIA members with project management tools, developing a shared global identity, and providing information to site visitors. Thanks to the support of the Muhammad Subuh Foundation, SDIA has added a photo database to assist members locate images and photos to enhance their local fundraising efforts.

In Context Magazine

At the request of its members and the World Congress organising team, SDIA developed a magazine to relate the work of SD projects to general global trends in development. In Context contains 10 colourful and informative articles that put the impressive work of some SD projects into the broader context that affects all our lives. In Context was widely distributed at the 13th World Congress, has been distributed to other development organizations and is available as separate articles on the website, <http://blog.susiladharma.org/category/articles/incontext/>.

Linking With Other Organisations

SDIA is privileged to have Consultative Status with the United Nation's Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), UNICEF and Department of Public Information. In 2009, SDIA began to articulate a clearer strategy for its work at the UN, focusing on how SD projects, SD nationals and SDIA as whole works to promote and help achieve the Millennium Development Goals, and the full range of human rights.

SDIA and the World Subud Association combined efforts to provide training for SDIA staff member Solen Lees who provides logistical support and coordination for SDIA on UN participation. She was selected to be a participant in a two-week course on International Human Rights Law and Advocacy organised by the International Service for Human Rights (ISHR) in Geneva. Its main objective is to empower Human Rights organisations by training their representatives to effectively use the United Nations human rights mechanisms. The course ran parallel to the 10th session of the Human Rights Council. In 2009, Solen applied the knowledge gained in this course to make her own work more effective and disseminated information about the course within Subud and in the SDIA network through reports and workshops.

SEEING RESULTS!

People sometimes ask—“When I give a donation to Susila Dharma, what are the results?” Here are a few examples from 2009. These reflect the value and strength of our international network, and through working together we achieve a lot more.

In early 2009, the SDIA eNews announced that a Health Center needed a motorcycle to carry out a community health program in the Kinshasa (DR Congo) area. The response was immediate and Dharma Trading stepped in to give the funds to buy a motorcycle and refrigerated boxes to keep the vaccines cold. The project leader, Zola Ferdinand, writes:

“We want to confirm that the motorcycle will allow us better to accomplish our functions as a Health Centre with a community of 19,064 inhabitants, mainly very poor families, in vaccination-delivery, training in disease prevention and emergency care. Many thanks to the owners and staff of Dharma Trading (USA) who have made the purchase of this motorcycle possible!”

The staff of Yenge Health Center in D.R. Congo serve a wide community.

In 2008, SDIA, with the support of the Blond Trust and in collaboration with Yayasan Usaha Mulia (YUM) supported an evaluation YUM’s Children’s Village Orphanage. The findings, conclusions and recommendations of the evaluation were taken up by YUM management and in 2009, its Board successfully re-oriented the activities of the Children’s Village to be in line with International Best Practice guidelines.

Fundación Amanecer has a new school bus thanks to the fund-raising efforts of SD Netherlands. To carry out their educational and cultural programs the Fundación needed its own means of transport for the children. Led by SDIA Board member Lawrence Leetz, funds were raised from many donors though SD Netherlands, SD Ireland, SD Spain, and SDIA.

In 2008, SDIA began a cycle of capacity building workshops in the Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC) to help strengthen SD DRC and all the SD projects there. Already by 2009 and in early 2010, there has been an improvement in communications with and management of SD DRC and several projects.

A new bus for the children at Fundacion Amanecer, Colombia.

Bricks for Yenge! In 2009, SDIA approached Leonore Waage, Chair of SD Norway, about raising money to build a wall around the Yenge Clinic in the DR Congo, to increase security and protect staff and patients. According to Yenge Clinic leader Zola Ferdinand, “last year we had some serious security breaches, so we need a wall to keep others off the premises. This will help ensure the safety of patients and good reputation of the clinic.” Leonore proposed a “Bricks for Yenge” Campaign. By early 2010, all the money to build the much-needed wall had been raised.

The combined efforts of SDIA and SD national organisations, helped meet the needs of some 15 social and humanitarian initiatives in 2009: these included Lemba Imbu School in the DRC, Tierraviva’s programme with incarcerated mothers and children in Argentina, Fundacion Amanecer education program for poor and indigenous children in the Quindio region of Colombia; the International Child

Children's Vision provides glasses to children in Bolivia.

Development Programme, and El Refugio which assists at-risk youth and prevents youth recruitment into armed groups in Colombia. This action alone translates into thousands of children and youth gaining skills and education and hundreds of parents getting help and support to become better parents. Thanks to the support of the SD network, Mithra Foundation was able to offer a successful camp for poor children in the slums of Bangalore, India. Bella Rosario from the Foundation wrote:

"Last week we completed our summer camp and the children enjoyed it thoroughly. There were children from five slums and they managed a lot of activities. Five teachers and two volunteers managed the program."

One result of the work of the SD network is that people like you support SDIA. Thank you all! Many thanks to our departed friend and former Director Harlinah.

Many Thanks...

On behalf of the Susila Dharma Network, thanks to all the donors who make the work of SDIA, SD nationals and SD projects possible. In a time of global financial instability, we continue to need, welcome and appreciate your support! Thanks equally to the SD Nationals and their teams and the dozens of volunteers who give of their time to make this international network a living, growing reality. Thank you to members of the World Subud Council and Executive Office for creating space for the development of SDIA and its members. And of course, thank you to the project leaders and their teams who work tirelessly, under the most challenging conditions, to improve living, learning and working conditions for communities all over the world.

ABOUT SDIA

Susila Dharma International is an association of 24 SD National organisations and 48 projects from 28 countries dedicated to relieving human suffering and promoting just and sustainable development through:

- Partnerships and support for grassroots, participatory development and humanitarian initiatives;
- Empowering individuals and communities to engage in human, social and economic development;
- Raising awareness of global issues and inter-dependence.

The Association was founded in 1969 and is an affiliate organization of the World Subud Association. Susila Dharma International is a US-registered non-profit organization that holds special consultative status with the United Nations Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), UNICEF and Department of Public Information (DPI). US Charitable tax No. 98-0156249.

This Annual Report covers the 2009 activities of the international organization and its services to members. It does not cover the activities and achievements of all 63 members of the Association. 2009 Annual Reports from SDIA members are available at www.susiladharm.org

SDIA ENDOWMENT FUND

The SDIA Endowment Fund was set up in 2000 to provide long term funding for ongoing operations so that SDIA can continue to support the many worthwhile projects run by its members. Donations to the Fund become part of the Fund's asset base and only the income generated by these assets is used. The Fund's assets are managed by Morgan Stanley Investment Advisors and the allocation of income from the Fund is administered by a committee of SDIA's board of directors.
