

SNSD

The Subud Network for Sustainable Development

This is an email mailing list started in February 1998. It came about as a result of a workshop on Sustainable Development set up by Victor Margolin at the World Congress in Spokane in 1997.

It is a private list for communication between Subud members only, i.e. it is not publicised on the Internet. Anyone who wishes to subscribe should email to the undersigned. This list is not moderated, i.e. all messages sent to the list are automatically passed on to everyone on the list without any censorship, though the List Owners will obviously keep an eye on what goes on! We will accept no responsibility for anything anyone writes and will of course expect a high degree of courtesy, tolerance, patience etc. etc. :-). Please remember that subscribers from a different cultural background or with a different native language may quite unintentionally use a form of words which appears impolite.

All messages sent to the list are archived. They can be searched via the Listserv software and can be downloaded.

Here are just a few of the topics which have been posted to the list:

- Alternative energy sources
- Artemisia
- Butterfly stories
- Climate change/Global warming
- Developments in Kalimantan
- Hemp as a source of fibre
- Human Values
- Indigenous peoples' forestry
- Ishmael - the novel by Daniel Quinn
- Rachel's Environment & Health News
- Rio+10 and The Earth Charter
- The World Trade Organisation
- Traditional Ecological Knowledge

We currently have about 75 members in at least 10 countries.

Anyone who would like to join the list please send an email to:

Max Potter <max@potteram.demon.co.uk>

You will receive a welcome message giving you information on sending messages to the list, searching the archives etc. If you are worried about being overwhelmed by emails you can always set yourself to NOMAIL if you are going away or very busy, and reset yourself to receive mail from the list again later. You will still be a member and able to access the archives to see what you have missed and send messages to the list.

Max Potter